

I'm an existing XM subscriber and use their service in both my vehicle and my home. I look forward in the future to all innovators, including XM, offering me expanded and new features. Attempting to stifle innovation in order to protect a segment of an industry from competition truly damages the nation's progress. Let those who can't/won't innovate head for the buggy whip museum rather than run to regulators for protection.

Regards,

Bruce Greenan